Move Made To Inspect Union Vote

Application Is Made To Examine Ballots Through Order by Court

Names Omitted

Group of 127 Not Listed At Election Time Is Cause of Trouble

Whether the election of new officers for Local 17, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union, named a week ago at a union election will finally become the local officers will depend upon the culmination of an application made Friday at Albany before Supreme Court Justice Francis Bergan when an application was made to inspect 127 ballots cast at the election.

Justice Bergan granted a show cause order which is returnable Tuesday, February 16, at Albany and stayed the installation of the new officers pending determination of the present application.

The election was held on Sunday, February 1, at the direction of the court. Pursuant to the order of the court the election was held in Kingston, Kerhonkson and Newburgh when tickets representing the Samuel Nuzzo interests and the interests of Fred Dusing were balloted for. The election was held under supervision of the State Labor Board and voting machines were used.

Last fall the court determined that members of the union in good standing last September were eligible to vote and members who joined the union since then were not to cast votes. Prior to the election the union was asked for its list of members who were paid up. That list was supplied and contained some 300 or 400 names of members who joined since September 1941. Prior to the election and in accordance with the court's order a meeting was held at Newburgh and the names of those members who joined after September were excluded from the list of eligible voters.

However on the day of the election 127 of the men whose names had been stricken from the eligible list showed up and sought to vote. Since their names were not on the list which had been stipulated as proper voters, their vote was received on paper ballots and the ballots sealed. These 127 men were not allowed to have the court voting machines and their votes were not counted in the election which found the Dusing ticket the winner.

Henry Hirschberg, representing the Nuzzo interests, made application to the court Friday at Albany for an order to show cause why the 127 votes should not be counted. He sought to have the court direct the inspection of the ballots and ascertain their validity.

Justice Bergan granted the application for a show cause order and made it returnable on Tuesday, February 16, at Albany. Meanwhile a stay is in effect preventing the newly elected officers from assuming office until the show cause order has been heard.

Charles de la Vergne and Francis T. Martocci appear for the Dusing interests in the matter.

National Debt Limit

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Administration leaders in Congress plan to propose soon that the national debt limit be raised from the $65,000,000 fixed last year to $100,000,000. Chairman George (D. Ga.) of the Senate finance committee indicated yesterday they had thought of asking first an increase to $85,000,000 but finally decided most members would "want to do it all at one jump." The debt stood at $60,193,958.101 as this week began. President Roosevelt's $59,027,992,300 war budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 is calculated to push it to $110,421,000,000.

Nation On Wartime For the Duration

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The nation went on wartime today, with all official clocks moved ahead one hour—for the duration.

The changeover was somewhat comparable to the action taken by other belligerent nations when the war began more than two years ago, and goes a step farther than "daylight saving" time established in the last war. In that conflict, this nation moved its clocks up only from March to October.

"Wartime"—President Roosevelt so named it—became effective by law at 2 a. m., standard time in each of the four time zones which divide the country.

Transportation services and the radio industry looked for little confusion. Indeed, they have been advocating the nationwide step on a year "round basis to supplant summer daylight time observance spotted over the country.

Proponents of the measure, including President Roosevelt, have asserted that the advanced time would contribute to the nation's available electric power supply by leveling off some of the demand peaks.

Consider Eliminating Some State Agencies to Reduce State Budget

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—Republican legislative leaders considered today eliminating activities of some state agencies and greatly reducing others as a means of cutting Governor Lehman's $380,700,000 State Budget.

While declining to disclose what state functions are under scrutiny, Republican sources asserted there are "quite a few activities," non-essential to defense or successful operation of state government, which might be dropped for the war period in an effort to lighten the tax load.

Three-Hour Deliberation Followed End of Trial Saturday Afternoon in County Court

Edward F. Hicks, 24-year-old former Kingston resident who was charged with murder, first degree, for the shooting of his wife, Margery LeBlanc Hicks, on September 23, last, was found guilty of murder, second degree, Saturday afternoon after a county court jury had deliberated about three hours.

Hicks, who had resided with his wife in Schenectady prior to the shooting, seemed unmoved when the jury returned its verdict. The second degree verdict saved Hicks from the electric chair and probably will bring a 20-year to life sentence to the young man.

While Hicks faces a minimum of 20 years imprisonment under the verdict of the jury by reason of the second degree murder verdict, under the law a first degree verdict could have carried a recommendation to the court of life imprisonment instead of the electric chair.

John M. Cashin, with Arthur B. Ewig, appeared for the defendant and summed up for the defense. He spoke for about an hour asking the jury to consider the testimony of his only witness, a mental disorder specialist who had said that Hicks had a mental age of 10 years and did not comprehend his act prior to the shooting. The defense had maintained throughout the trial that Hicks shot his wife but held that it was not premeditated and did not constitute first degree murder.

District Attorney Haver made the summation for The People and Judge Conway charged the jury as to the law. The case was submitted about 2:30 o'clock and about 5:30 o'clock the verdict was returned.

Motions were reserved until later and Judge Conway announced that sentence would be pronounced Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

Trial of the indictment was started last Monday afternoon and the jury was completed Wednesday afternoon when court recessed. (Continued on Page 12)

Vetoes Bill Requiring Agents of Foreign Country to Register

President Recommends Adjustment of Bill Which Will Not Interfere With Representatives of Nations Friendly to U. S.

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill tightening up restrictions in the 1938 law requiring agents of foreign governments to register with the state department and recommended that it be adjusted so as not to interfere with representatives of friendly nations.

The legislation would have required foreign agents to label all political propaganda distributed in this country and extended the act's provisions to agents operating in the United States and sending their propaganda to Central and South America.

Mr. Roosevelt noted that the vetoed measure was drafted in peacetime to protect a nation at peace and was properly designed to force the disclosure of the activities of foreign nations who may abuse the hospitality of our country or weaken our national unity by fostering discord and disgust.

But he said it was far from clear, now that the nation is at war that the requirements of the bill would not in many instances be "unnecessary, inappropriate and onerous" in respect to representatives of friendly countries who constantly come to the United States to cooperate with us.

The President said the necessary adjustment might be made by granting broad discretionary powers to the attorney general to enable him to administer the bill to meet war time conditions.

President Roosevelt asked Congress today to amend the 1939 neutrality act promptly to legalize financial transactions "essential in the effective prosecution of the war."

Mr. Roosevelt sent to Capitol Hill a three paragraph message asking that section 7 of the act, which he said, now, in effect, "prevents essential financial transactions between persons within the United States and our co-belligerents," be amended so that it will be inoperative when the United States is at war.

In his opinion the President said, there was never any intention that this section should operate during our belligerency.

The agency will be headed by Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission. The war shipping administration was established in line with a recently announced agreement by the United States and Britain to create a joint shipping board. The British will direct operations of vessels under their control and the United States will manage shipping under the American flag or under American domination.

Alien Registration

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A three-week period during which 900,000 enemy aliens in 40 states must apply for certificates of identification began today. The deadline, under penalty of internment for the duration of the war, is February 28. Today also is the final day on which the applications will be received from German, Japanese and Italian subjects in the other eight states—California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, Utah and Idaho—which compose the western defense command.

Production to Increase

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Urgent need for glycerine to make military explosives should result in production of enough soap this year to "scrub this land and most of the things in it," the War Production Board predicted today. The reason is that more fats and greases will be processed by soap makers for the glycerine content than ever before, and a lot of the residue will go into soap. War-time soap probably won't be as slippery as the peacetime product, however, since virtually all glycerine will be extracted.

Find Body of Man Mangled at Tracks Back of Connelly

Believe Unknown Man Fell From Train; No Sign of Tracks Found in the Snow

The badly mangled body of an unknown man, thought to be about 61 years of age, was found around 2:30 Saturday afternoon lying along the West Shore Railroad tracks just back of Connelly. The right arm had been severed at the shoulder and the right leg at the thigh. The only clothing worn consisted of underwear and a pair of Army shoes.

The body was discovered by Vincent Bouck and his son, of Connelly, who made the gruesome find as they were following a line of traps which they had out in that section.

Bouck called the Kingston police and the latter notified the sheriff's office. An investigation was made by Sheriff Anderson and Deputy Sheriff Vredenburg and railroad officers; also by Coroner Frank J. McCardle.

Sheriff Anderson said this morning that every indication was that the man had fallen from a passing train and either had been caught under the wheels of the train on which he had been riding, or had fallen in the path of another passing train. There were no apparent tracks in the snow to indicate that the body had been brought to that point and judging from the condition of the body with reference to the hail and sleet that fell Saturday morning it is believed that the accident happened at an early hour that morning.

The body was taken in charge by Coroner McCardle, who removed it to his funeral parlors in Rosendale, where it is being held pending further investigation and possible identification.

Augment Rationing Boards

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—New York's 220 local rationing boards will be augmented by volunteer civilian assistants to aid in sugar rationing, State Dictator Maurice F. Neufeld said today. Summoning county administrators and board members to regional conferences throughout the state this week, Neufeld said "it may not be possible" for three-member boards to "handle every problem raised by thousands of men, women and children who will apply to schools for (sugar) rationing books." The volunteer aides will be trained in details of the sugar rationing program, he said. Boards now allot tires only.

Bar Maids Foreseen

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Bar maids may take the place of the bartenders—but so far it's only a threat. Clarence K. Dwinell, general manager of LaGuardia Air Field's bar hinted darkly today that the army was taking so many bartenders he was considering employing women to take their place. There are no openings now but there may be when the summer staffs are employed. The New York State Liquor Authority said it had no objection but women's working hours are regulated by the State Labor Department. Labor authorities said women can't work after midnight in restaurants.

Girl Gets 10 Years

London, Feb. 9 (AP)—A 36-year-old typist, Irma Gertrude Sophie Stapleton, was sentenced to ten years imprisonment today for offenses under the defense regulations. "You have been found guilty of doing certain acts with the intent to assist the enemy, namely Germany," the judge said passing sentence after a three day secret trial.

Wife of Hawk Got No Word in Letter

Mrs. Earl C. Hawk Heard From Husband but Not of 'Sub' Tragedy

Margaret Lynch Hawk, of Saugerties, wife of Lieut. Commander Earl C. Hawk, who last month had a narrow escape as the submarine S-26 sank off Panama told a Freeman reporter yesterday that she had received a letter from her husband dated February 1 in which he said everything was all right.

The letter, received before the government authorities gave official sanction to announcement of the accidental sinking of the submarine January 24 when it was rammed by another boat, gave no hint to Mrs. Hawk that the accident had taken place.

It is known now, however, through official government release that Commander Hawk is one of only three men of the crew of 39 to escape death when the boat went down in the waters off the Canal Zone.

Besides Mrs. Hawk there are two children, Earl, Jr., aged 5, and Joan, age 12, who were glad to hear that the commander survived the accident. Mrs. Hawk said that her husband had spent Christmas with his family.

Father 'Kept Light'

Conrad Hawk, father of the young naval officer, had been in charge of the lighthouse just off the Saugerties shore in the Hudson for many years. He died last summer and Mrs. Conrad Hawk is now living at the home of her daughter in Middletown.

General Bennett Reports Situation Is 'Well in Hand'

Japanese Declare Beach Heads Are So Strong That Tanks Have Been Ferried Across

MacArthur Holds

Manila Bay Fortifications Silence Big Gun Siege Batteries

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH (Associated Press War Editor)

The Japanese fought their way into the fortress island of Singapore today on a 10-mile front, threatening to overrun the once powerful British base, but after several hours of bloody fighting the situation was reported officially to be "well in hand."

That word came from Major General Henry Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australian forces, in whose zone in the mangrove, swamps and rubber plantations of the northwestern shore the invaders first struck.

"We have taken our stand on a strong line and are organizing an attack which it is hoped will recover as much as possible of the lost terrain," Bennett said, thus holding out but slim hope that the Japanese could be readily dislodged.

The strong Japanese landing had turned Singapore's ordeal of shell-fire and bombs in the past week of siege from the opposite shore of Johore Strait into a man to man, weapon to weapon struggle.

The Japanese declared that their beach heads were so well consolidated that tanks already had been ferried across to bolster their shock troops.

While this seemed quite possible, there was no confirmation from Singapore.

Likewise unconfirmed was a roundabout report that Japanese paratroopers had been dumped behind the forward defense positions and already had engaged a British detachment.

Rally for Attack
Singapore, Feb. 9 (AP)—Determined defenders of Singapore rallied for attack to throw a strong invading force of Japanese off their embattled island today after pinning them down to a 10-mile front along the western swamps and beaches.

"The situation is well in hand," declared Major General Henry Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australians, whose sector of the Japanese had chosen for a surprise night landing.

"We have taken on a strong line and are organizing an attack which it is hoped will recover as much as possible of the lost terrain."

(Tokyo broadcasts, heard in Oslo, declared Japanese paratroopers took part in the battle, and reported that the Japanese navy was expected to join in the attack at any moment in an all-out assault on the island.)

Under a hail of British artillery, fire which swept the shallow waters of Johore Strait, the Japanese force was virtually beleaguered, unable to receive reinforcements at least until nightfall.

Before dark, the Australians hoped to cut the invaders to pieces.

This initial force gained its foothold under cover of a withering artillery and aerial bombardment throughout yesterday and all last night.

The tempo increased violently in the night, and ragged rows of Japanese special landing boats began moving across the shell-churned straits in the light of a rising half moon.

Plunging into the mangrove swamps and rubber trees and darting into tiny inlets which penetrate the shore, the Japanese succeeded in making good a foothold protected by machinegun nests hidden in a tangle of logs and brush.

Then only British shells plunged into the mud flats and beaches, as bayonet swinging Australians and hardy Indians plunged into the thick of a hand-to-hand fight.

No Talk of Surrender
Pushed back to this last bit of British soil in Malaya in a two-months war, the defenders, for they had little or no chance of escape in event of defeat.

They had to throw the Japanese out, or accept death. There was no talk of surrender.

While the roar of artillery reverberated across the island, sun-scorched Australians, Indians, British Scottish Highlanders and (Continued on Page Three)

Boy Scouts Muster 1½ Million Youths To Note 32nd Anniversary in War Work

By JAMES E. WEST

Boy Scouts of America

Feature Service

Thirty-two years of the "Game of Scouting" a leisure-time activity supplementing the home, the church and the school, has given the United States a powerful force of 1,570,000 Boy Scout Cubs and adult leaders equipped to render wartime service to the nation and to thousands of communities.

The motto of the Boy Scout—"Be Prepared"—is known to all. President Roosevelt, himself active in Boy Scouting almost two decades, told the nation a year ago that "for our national policy, we as a nation, have adopted the motto of the Boy Scout organization—Be Prepared."

Scouts Are Prepared

Through their day-by-day activities in first aid, life saving, tracking, signaling, cooking, nature study, seamanship, campcraft, woodcraft, chivalry and all of the handicrafts, America's Boy Scouts have always been prepared to do their duties as citizens of their country.

More than ten million Americans have had some Scout training and in every place where training is most important, the Scout program for boyhood and young manhood is proving itself invaluable.

Months before the United States became involved in the war, President Roosevelt called upon the Boy Scouts for national service as special messengers in the distribution of the Savings Bonds and Stamps for Defense posters. Some 1,700,000 of them were placed by Boy Scouts in 11,550 communities.

Boy Power

Boy Scouts were asked to collect aluminum last summer. Boy power trained and organized for service and given responsible assignments, again showed re-

In more than 10,000 communities Boy Scouts collected ten million pounds of aluminum, 80 per cent of all collected.

The shortage of waste paper needed for making paper boxes and containers for packing defense materials brought another call to the Scouts. This assignment was a natural, for Scouts have long been collecting old newspapers and magazines to raise funds for camping expenses, uniforms and equipment.

This is a continuous project for the duration of the war. Scouts already have collected hundreds of tons of waste paper. In many cases the money they are paid is contributed to worthy projects. One troop alone gave $1,200 to its local Red Cross chapter, its earnings from paper salvage.

Help With Housing

In a defense housing shortage in New England Boy Scouts called on 400,000 homes in 14 communities, listing them as to their availability. In test blackout demonstrations Scout services have been available.

As the Boy Scouts were preparing to celebrate their 32nd anniversary from Feb. 6 to Feb. 12, they were called upon "to expand their work to cover collection of scrap metals, old rubber and any other waste materials which can be disposed of locally through waste material dealers."

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, Office of Civilian Defense director, called on the Boy Scouts to place five million posters throughout the nation telling what to do in air raid.

Book Campaign

In the Victory Book Campaign Boy Scouts are visiting homes to pick up books, publicizing the campaign, distributing posters and assisting in handling, sorting and packing the books.

An important development has been the formation of Emergency Service Corps groups of older Scouts qualified by special training abilities to perform more strenuous emergency duties, such as rescue work and first aid.

Of the Boy Scout Emergency Training program President Roosevelt said, "At no time in its history has our country had greater need for this kind of serious work and preparation."

"Your plans for providing it seem admirably timed and suited to the needs of the hour and within the scope of the regular program of training for boys of Scout age. I am proud of the achievements of our Boy Scouts."

The movement's record of service in distress, disaster and every type of emergency, as well as its achievements for character building and citizenship training, commands universal respect. The present emergency will afford an excellent opportunity for our Scouts to assume new responsibilities and to gain personal experience through patriotic service.

TOMORROW MAY BE TOO LATE

Registrants Will Answer 9 Queries On February 14-16

Only nine simple questions will be asked those men who register on February 14, 15 or 16 for possible military service under the provisions of the Selective Service Act, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, state director of Selective Service for New York, emphasized today.

Registration of the individual should require a comparatively short time, the director said, pointing out that the registrant will not be asked to fill out questionnaires but must only answer interrogations about his identity, his place of residence, and his mailing address. Also he will be required to list his telephone, if any; his age in years and date of birth; place of birth, the name and address of the person who will always know his address, his employer's name and address, and his place of employment or business.

While it is important that registration be conducted as speedily as possible, General Brown said that every registrant will be given ample time to respond properly to the questions on the registration card, which on this occasion will be green. White and melon colored cards, respectively, were used for the first and second Selective Service registrations.

No questionnaires will be given registrants when they register on February 14, 15 or 16, nor will they then be required to undergo any physical examination. Questionnaires are given to registrants after their order numbers have been determined and reached by their local boards. Physical examinations are given only after the boards have passed on the general qualifications of registrants and have determined that they should not be deferred for reasons of interest to the nation.

While registration must be conducted as of February 16 to conform to the President's proclamation issued early in January, Governor Lehman has also announced that registration shall be accomplished in New York state on February 14 and 15 as well. This advance registration is authorized to avoid interference with war production. New York city will register on February 15 and 16 only.

When registered, each registrant must answer the following nine questions: (1) Name of registrant; (2) place of residence; (3) mailing address (if other than place of residence); (4) telephone; (5) age in years and date of birth; (6) place of birth; (7) name and address of person who will always know your address; (8) employer's name and address, and (9) place of employment or business.

After a registrant has answered all questions and signed his name to the registration card, he will be given a registration certificate signed by the registrar. This certificate must be in the personal possession of the registrant at all times, General Brown warned.

Failure to possess the certificate, or to show it to authorized persons, constitutes a violation of Selective Service regulations and is considered prima facie evidence of failure to register.

"Me, I'm an Ochlophile"

"Yes, ochlophile...that's a word I picked up in a crossword puzzle. Means somebody who likes to have crowds around. After all, what retailer doesn't like crowds?"

1. "You'll find a steady stream of customers in this store every day...customers who are watching the family budget more carefully than ever, now that we're at war, and watching newspaper ads more carefully, too, in order to save money and time."

2. "Every chance I get, I tell manufacturers' representatives how I feel about newspaper advertising...how everybody in town reads the daily paper, and the ads in the paper, too, whether other kinds of advertising reach them or not."

3. "I tell them that newspaper ads have always been a swell investment for me...and for all other retailers in town who amount to anything. So why shouldn't manufacturers take full advantage of this medium, too? After all, their business depends on sales through my store and others like it."

4. "Why wouldn't it be smart, I ask them, to move their goods off my shelves with the kind of advertising that brings in crowds of customers? I guess other retailers have been making the same point...that must be one reason why manufacturers are doing so much newspaper advertising these days."

First Lady Wants Chance to Speak To Congressmen

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt said today she would be "perfectly delighted" if congressmen who have criticized certain civilian defense activities and moved to strip it of authority to direct morale-building activities would allow her to explain the situation.

The Office of Civilian Defense has been under congressional fire since the appointment of Melvyn Douglas, movie actor, and Mayris Chaney, dancer friend of Mrs. Roosevelt, to high-paying O.C.D. jobs.

New congressional criticism developed as the House took up a $100,000,000 O.C.D. appropriations bill again.

Mrs. Roosevelt, assistant director of the O.C.D., told her press conference that she did not directly appoint Miss Chaney but had suggested her name. She said that she did not appoint Douglas and that questions should be directed to James M. Landis, executive officer of O.C.D., concerning Douglas and to John B. Kelly, director of the physical fitness division at Philadelphia, concerning Miss Chaney.

In New York Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, director of O.C.D., said he blocked the assignment of Miss Chaney to the morale division last December.

Saying she had not read all the newspaper reports of congressional criticism of the O.C.D., Mrs. Roosevelt said that if the remarks were directed to her, her answer would be:

"I'm waiting to hear from the gentlemen, hoping they will give me the courtesy of appearing and discussing it with them. They have offices and I have feet."

Japs Fight Way Into Singapore

hastily recruited Chinese rushed to mop up the forces which had gained a foothold.

But it was admitted the Japanese jungle fighters had succeeded in making penetrations eastward through the Mangrove swamps and rubber and apple plantations which border the turgid strait.

Japanese artillery, thickly planted along the opposite shore, blasted the defenders' positions and raked the island as far as Singapore city itself, while Japanese dive bombers patrolled the skies and strafed the roads.

British artillerymen duelled with the Japanese batteries, endeavoring to knock out enemy guns. British Hurricanes fought desperate engagements in the skies with some success against the numbers of Japanese planes which sought to dominate the air.

Repulse New Attacks

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur reported today his troops on Bataan Peninsula in the Philippines repulsed new attacks by the Japanese while the Manila Bay fortifications silenced several enemy big gun siege batteries on the Cavite shore.

A war department communique said heavy infantry fighting had occurred in the central part of the peninsula with hostile dive bombers active overhead, but all attacks were repulsed by the American-Filipino defenders.

In the duel between the Corregidor string of fortifications at the entrance to Manila Bay and the hidden Japanese guns which have been bombarding the forts for several days, the forts' guns scored several direct hits on enemy batteries.

The text of the war department's communique — number 98 of the war — based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m. E. S. war time today:

"1. The Philippine theatre: 'Some of the concealed enemy batteries which have been firing on our harbor defenses from the Cavite shore have been located and attacked by counter-battery fire from our forts. Several direct hits were observed and some of the enemy batteries were silenced. '2. There is nothing to report from our other areas.'

"Hostile dive bombers were active over our lines. '3. There is nothing to report from our other areas.'

Yesterday General MacArthur had reported: "Fighting is increasing in intensity on our left."

This and today's communique indicated that the new Japanese offensive was developing in the Philippines.

In the Mediterranean

The battle of diplomacy and propaganda for strategic position in the Mediterranean basin overshadowed actual war there today, with the British charging the Axis with sponsoring native outbreaks against them in Spanish Morocco. London disclosed at various points that a strong protest had been lodged with the commander of the Spanish military forces at Tangier over "Axis-inspired" riots among the Moslem natives following the explosion of a time bomb for which Axis propagandists, with remarkable promptness, blamed the British.

An authoritative London source said the attention of the Spanish government probably would be directed to Axis attempts to embitter British-Spanish relations. Spain conceivably could be forced into war by Germany and Italy, old time beneficiaries of the present Nationalist government of Generalissimo Franco.

The inflammatory trend of Axis propaganda at the Tangier incident suggested that this was Adolf Hitler's objective.

Actual warfare in the Mediterranean region was marked by Axis reports of a raid on the British naval base at Alexandria, Egypt, new air attacks on Malta and claims that Axis airmen had scattered incendiary bombs in eastern Libya. The Axis admitted a new R.A.F. attack on Tripoli.

By and large, the British appeared to have checked the German-Italian counter-offensive in Libya about 40 miles west of Tobruk. The Axis offered no new claims of ground gained.

Russian military authorities quieted riotous factions in Tangier by martial law after an outbreak which was touched off by the explosion Friday of a time bomb in a taxi loaded with British diplomatic baggage on a Tangier pier. Fourteen persons on the crowded dock were killed and 36 were wounded.

Arabs Incited to Riot

The British and the Germans accused each other of inciting the Arabs to violence.

It was noteworthy that Germany, if the Spanish would allow it, could use Spanish soil as a springboard for a direct assault on Gibraltar and across the Gibraltar Strait into northwest Africa, threatening South America and the South Atlantic.

The Russians, meanwhile, were reported launching a new offensive in the Donets Basin against German battalions who massed artillery fire, a Russian expert said, had lost its power. The British radio said the Russians already had announced the recapture of Krasnograd.

Sixty miles southwest of Kharkov, Krasnograd is an important junction in the Kharkov-Dnepetrovsk and Odessa railway, indicating another advance by the Russians upon Dnepetrovsk.

Despite Mines and Other Obstacles, Reds Sweep Three More Villages Clear of Nazis

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 9 (AP)—Desperately pressed German troops laid vast mine fields in the Donets Basin today in an attempt to halt the on-rushing Soviets, but the forces of Marshal Semyon Timoshenko surged forward over the snowdrifted steps.

One mine field nearly two miles long was discovered and Red sappers cut five lanes through it. At another point, the Russians said they extracted 2,600 anti-tank mines buried beneath the snow.

Despite these and other obstacles, the Russians swept three more Donets villages clear of the Nazis.

Eighteen other populated places were captured on the central front as the Reds pressed toward Smolensk. Heavy artillery was said to have destroyed ten German planes on the ground near the front lines.

While front line news was scarce, dispatches told of rear line destruction by the Red Army from Sevastopol to the northwest sector beyond Kalinin.

Russian scouts slipped through heavy German lines at one point and blew up an anti-tank post killing ten Germans.

In the past four days, Sevastopol artillery and planes have smashed nine Nazi artillery batteries hurling shells into that besieged Crimean naval base.

On the southwestern front, the Russians said 20 members of the first Rumanian division had surrendered with their junior officers, complaining of treatment from the German command. The Russians said the Rumanian captives fought German prisoners. They complained that the German commanders had assured them of artillery and German infantry support which did not materialize.

On the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow, a guerrilla detachment led by a "grandfather" attacked a German rear guard detachment killing 179 officers and men, capturing five anti-tank guns and other materiel.

The Soviets claimed they captured an order of the day of the 290th German Infantry regiment which said:

"Lately a number of instances have occurred showing a decline in discipline and a lowering of morale of the unit. During fighting, positions are surrendered prematurely without good reason. In addition, arms are abandoned and wounded are left behind. While on marches men singly and even in groups have been leaving the marching column without permission abandoning their arms. Officers must put an end to this situation by all means at their disposal."

The Russians were using American-made planes against German battalions whose massed artillery has lost its sting.

Would Oppose Axis

Buenos Aires, Feb. 9 (AP)—Raul Damonte Taborda, chairman of the Argentine "Diet committee," and two other members of the radical bloc introduced a resolution in the Chamber of Deputies today calling on acting President Ramon Castillo to break off relations with the Axis powers. As head of the congressional committee investigating anti-Argentine activities, Damonte Taborda has played a leading role in uncovering Axis espionage and propaganda activities in this country.

Enlistments Increase

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—In the nine weeks since Pearl Harbor, 15,486 men have enlisted here in the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, the three branches disclosed today. The Army has discontinued announcement of enlistment figures. A breakdown showed 10,600 enlistments in the Navy, 2,446 in the Marine Corps and 2,440 in the Coast Guard.

satisfactorily on the Russian front in the extreme cold which has jammed a large part of the German war machine.

A blow to German military power was the death of Germany's construction wizard, Maj. Gen. Fritz Todt, 50.

It was announced from Berlin that he had been killed yesterday in an air accident while "carrying through his military tasks in the east."

Todt built the Siegfried Line which guards Germany's western front. Winter and Russia's attacks have played havoc with his roads on the eastern front.

The urgent need all-out aid to Russia by Britain and the United States was stressed in two addresses in England yesterday by Sir Stafford Cripps, who returned recently from Moscow after serving as British ambassador there. He said the defeat of Germany within one year's time was possible but it depended on American and British help.

In the Donets Basin, the Germans asserted that the Red army had lost several thousand men killed and more than 1,000 prisoners in the past two weeks but admitted that they generally maintained the weight of their counter-drive.

Moscow reports likewise emphasized the Donets fighting, saying that the Germans had laid vast minefields to halt the Russian drive. Sappers had to cut safe lanes across the mined terrain. With the ground frozen, the Germans could only lay their explosives under the snow.

The Russians recaptured three more villages in the Donets drive, it was said, and another 18 populated places on the central front where the Red army is aiming principally toward Smolensk.

Gets Suspended Fine

Mrs. Freda Cross of Prattville, who was arrested by Troopers Dunn and Maish as an unlicensed operator, following an accident Friday night on the Bushnellville-Shandaken road, was given a suspended fine of $5 when arraigned before Justice Flavius Dibbell of Phenicia. Mrs. Cross received a bruised chest and a nose injury and her daughter, Gertrude, 16, sustained cuts about the head when the car skidded, crossed to the left side of the road and after running up a guard chain turned over and was badly damaged. Investigating the accident the troopers found that Mrs. Cross had not renewed her license for this year.

Mercury Drops

Following a temperature of 42 degrees on Sunday morning the weather gradually grew colder and at 11:30 o'clock last night the official thermometer recorded a low of 17 degrees. During the early morning hours of today the temperature continued to grow colder and at 8 o'clock this morning a low of 10 degrees above zero was recorded. The colder temperature which followed the mild weather of Sunday morning turned the slush and water that covered the streets and sidewalks into a glare of ice Sunday night.

To Register Women

Portland, Ore., Feb. 9 (AP)—Six thousand volunteer workers will start a house-to-house survey of Oregon womanpower next Monday. While men from 20 to 44 years of age sign up for the military draft that day, women will be registered for wartime jobs. By March 1, three weeks before England completes its registration of women, the Oregon Board for the Mobilization of Labor, expects to have a complete catalogue of the skills and abilities of every woman over 18 years of age.

Wife to Do Her Bit

Los Angeles, Feb. 9 (AP)—Proud of the daring exploits of her 28-year-old husband—an American volunteer pilot now battling the Japanese over Burma—a young bride of six months has come here to do her bit working in a defense training school. She is Mrs. Jane Newkirk, 22, wife of Lieut. John Van Keuren Newkirk, better known to his pals as Sealsdale Jack, because he bails from Sealsdale, N. Y. He has been credited with downing a number of Japanese planes as a member of the American volunteer group.

Blocked Assignment

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia told questioners today he had blocked the assignment of Mayris Chaney, Philadelphia dancer and friend of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, to the morale division of the Office of Civilian Defense in New York last December. The mayor, also O.C.D. director, told newspapermen it was "substantially correct" that he had failed to approve the assignment at a salary of $1270 daily. No reason was given.

Signs Navy Bill

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A $26,495,265,474 appropriation bill, the largest in the history of any nation, and carrying funds for America's growing navy, was signed today by President Roosevelt. The measure, providing both cash and contract authorizations, contemplates adding approximately 25,000 airplanes to the navy's sky force and enlarging the fleet for waging war in two oceans at once.

Double Time

Columbus, O., Feb. 9 (AP)—Two operators of a gasoline service station wondered why business lagged this morning. Their clock said 10:30. While it really was 8:30, the hands should have indicated 9:30 war time. Each, without consulting the other, had moved the clock an hour ahead.

Grease Catches Fire

Some grease on fire in a pan in the oven of the kitchen stove in the home of John H. Manion, 82 Lounsbury Place, at 12:35 o'clock Sunday afternoon caused a still alarm to be sent in to the fire department.

Women to Meet

The Democratic Women's Club of Kingston will meet at the Governor Clinton Hotel tonight at 8 o'clock.

Glazed Chintz Back

Glazed chintz, long forgotten, is assuming an important role on the stage of fashion. It will be seen in a variety of clothes this year, from kitchen dresses and afternoon dirtds to floor-sweeping skirts for evening. It is even finding a place in the sun and at the beach. There is something very different about these chintz flower prints. While they were always colorful and gay when new, after the first few washings the fabric lost its glaze and took on a wilted appearance. This year's version of chintz has a special glazed finish and will hold its gloss after frequent washings. It is being made on a lighter weight softer muslin which can be tucked, gathered and pleated without becoming bulky.

CARD PARTY

Vanderlyn Council, No. 41, will hold a public card party Tuesday evening, February 10, at 8:15 o'clock in the Mechanics' Hall. Refreshments will be served.

Dies Group Says Jap Fifth Column Ready to Strike

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Dies committee asserting that a Japanese fifth column awaits only Tokyo's orders to strike on the Pacific coast, plans to demand that all Japanese be uprooted from west coast states and interned at least 500 miles inland.

"Shinto temples still operate, propaganda outlets still disseminate propaganda material and Japanese, both alien and American citizens, still spy for the Japanese government," the committee says in the first draft of a "yellow paper" which it probably will make public in about two weeks.

Chairman Dies (D-Tex.) said yesterday Justice Department orders ousting Japanese from certain Pacific coast areas of vital defense importance had not been completely effective, under "protection of civil rights," he said, Japanese were making ready espionage such as smoothed the way for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

The committee's tentative report says Japanese still live near oil wells, aviation plants, pipe lines, tunnels and aqueducts.

It adds that during the Pearl Harbor attack Japanese blocked streets with furniture, drove trucks into military airplanes and disabled automobiles of army and navy officers.

Figures are not available on the number of Japanese living within 500 miles of the Pacific coast, but the Justice Department estimates there are 200,000 Japanese, Germans and Italians in California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, Utah and Idaho. More than half of these enemy aliens are Japanese.

KIDS AND JALOPPIES

It took an accident which killed four youths recently in this state to wake up the community to the danger of letting kids loose with cars and money to spend in bar-rooms. The town's P-T. A. is now calling a mass meeting in its high school to discuss these perils and to try to find ways to prevent them.

The chances are that most of the boys go so gaily gallivanting about with old cars and think it smart to drink too much haven't enough real fun provided by their homes or the community.

There is a time in a lad's life when he just has to blow off steam and show how smart he is. It takes a smart parent to keep ahead of him, a smart community to provide competition in ways which build a boy's strength instead of letting him slide into ways which drag him down. Community activities in sports, plays and making things, all help.

The automobile menace will probably grow less with the rationing of gas and rubber. But it will be right with us, highly increased, a little later. Now's the time to get boys started on really satisfying kinds of gay and jolly activity. They will make their own fun if they have half a chance. Moreover, given that chance, they soon set their standards of good times so high that they regard drinking and crazy driving as beneath contempt and as outmoded as Model T.

PRISON UNIVERSITY

It seems that 130 American citizens are interned at Bad Nauheim, Germany. They report that they are well housed and fed, but after a bit they began to be bored. They were mostly diplomats and correspondents. Walking for an hour a day and going to church on Sunday, while very well in their way, did not give them enough mental or physical activity to last through the week.

Remembering the passion Americans have for "taking courses" it is easy to guess what they are doing. They are taking them and giving them. There are classes in German, French and Spanish. There are lectures on other subjects. There is music practice and instruction, with concerts in the evening.

That's lifting themselves, not by their own, but by each other's bootstraps. They are no longer bored, but deeply interested in the life of every day. That lifting of spirit and stiffening of morale by mental work which offers something hard enough to bite on is the great advantage. Besides, when the war is over, they are all going to know more than they did before.

SALUTE TO AN EDITOR

Josephus Daniels, a modest newspaper man who, more than anyone else, is credited with winning Mexican friendship for the United States, deserves a national salute as he gets back on his regular job, after long deviation in public life. That job is running a newspaper, the News and Observer of Raleigh, N. C. In spite of his diplomatic success, it is the job he likes best.

Not the least interesting thing about this move is the fact that Josephus is 79 years old. And why is he returning to the grind instead of taking his ease? It isn't merely because he loves the smell of printer's ink and the roar of the presses and the life and action that always swirl around an editor's chair. "There is but one business in America today," he says. "That is winning the war. There will be but one business when the fighting is over. That will be to win the peace." May he help in both and enjoy the fruits thereof!

ORIENTAL ERSATZ

Another thing about the Japs now swarming over the Orient like an invasion of brown beetles: If they overrun and conquered the Philippines, the Indies and other countries, in a widening circle, they would not be content even with the rich natural resources they took over. There would be a revolution in industry spreading as far as their conquests could reach, by open armed invasion and sneaking trade invasion.

The American and British people know something about the competition of Jap goods. Imitators in almost every sphere of life, they are most cunning and skillful in their copying of other nations' products. They surpass the Germans in "ersatz" production. They can make dishes and a thousand other things that look like the products of western nations, but are much inferior and can be sold for a small fraction of the usual price.

This is a trade war as much as a racial and industrial and real estate war. The Japs would like to grab areas providing them with vast raw materials and then make cheap goods to flood the world. Standards of living and standards of merchandise and standards of human conduct would all sink together.

Speaking of food prejudices, wouldn't the fussiest Englishman welcome at the present moment two—or even three—soft-boiled eggs broken into a bowl with bits of soft toast mixed around in the mess? With salt, and pepper, and butter? Might he not even put down good old hot coffee with cream and sugar on the side instead of his accustomed tea?

Naturally Americans who live in towns like Punxsutawney and Walla Walla and Quemahoning and Norridgewock think that such Dutch East Indian names as Indramayu and Soerabaya and Jokyakarta and Banjwangi are very queer.

Civilian defense may seem to be running around in circles, but at least it wakes people up.

That isn't war in Libya. It's just a game of "prisoner's base."

Eagles were the first air raiders and blitz-kriegers.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

An embarrassing condition that often causes an inferiority complex is superfluous hair. Although gland extracts help some cases and others are kept under some control by pastes, the treatment in general use is electrolysis. As each hair root has to be destroyed individually by the electric needle it is often a long tiresome process to get rid of this condition. And, unless the treatment is given by a skilled expert some scarring may result.

Dr. Davis Derow, New York City, in Archives of Physical Therapy, considers the short wave current superior to any other method. The advantages of the short wave method are: no return of the hairs; practically no pain, little scarring; perfect control of the current; and a great number of hairs can be removed at one sitting.

After describing the equipment necessary, Dr. Derow states that the current is applied for a fraction of a second, and with proper adjustment the hair will slip out and can be easily grasped by forceps. Should there be the slightest resistance, the machine is readjusted until the proper setting is found.

There should be no pain, no bleeding, no scarring, and no return of the hair when the work is properly done. With this method 50 to 100 hairs may be removed at one sitting. Eight to ten day intervals between treatments seem best.

To overcome difficulty in the treatment of blonde or very fine hair, an ointment made of charcoal and cold cream is rubbed into the hair. Simple vanishing cream is then used to wipe off the surplus, leaving the pore of each hair marked by a black dot. These black dots enable the operator to insert the needle with ease. Soap and water removes black dots.

Now this seems like a simple method and, if properly done, gives good results. However, the point is that it must be done by an expert (not necessarily a physician) who not only knows the structure of the hair and its root, but what is just as important, the proper adjustment of the short wave apparatus to obtain safe and satisfactory results.

Acne or pimples is another condition that is often very embarrassing. Send today for Dr. Barton's new booklet on this subject entitled "Acne—Pimples." (No. 111). GOING UP—(AND NO WONDER!)

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Fire Chief Rodney A. Chipp in his annual report for the year 1933 recommended to the Board of Fire Commissioners that there be eight additional paid firemen added to the fire department roster. He also reported that the city fire loss that year was $72,950.16, and that the department had responded to 288 fire calls.

At the annual meeting of the fire board on January 8, 1934, the board elected Commissioner Charles Lahl as president of the board, and reappointed Ray Whitebeck as secretary.

I recall the days that President Lahl was long active in fireman affairs in Kingston. He for years had been a member of Cordis Hose Company, and during the administration of Walter P. Crane as mayor he served the city as assessor. It was while serving as assessor that he was suddenly stricken with illness and died.

Ray Whitebeck served the board for a number of years as its secretary. I recall the days when Ray at the turn of the century was one of the fastest amateur basketball players in the city, and played with the old championship "Y" five. He is now with the Kingston Coal Company, while one of his fellow players, "Pete" Measter, is with the Forest Packing Company. Both men in their early days played a fast brand of basketball.

I also recall that in January, 1924, Munroe Burger became a member of the staff of the Kingston Trust Company at the Central Branch on Broadway. Mr. Burger had served 16 years with the Rodont National Bank before he went with the Trust Company. Before his banking days he was with the Kingston Coal Company.

Mr. Burger was with the coal company on Thomas street in the days of the big coal strike in the early 1900's when the Kingston Coal Company was the only dealer in town who had a supply of anthracite and they rationed it off in 100 pound lots to customers so that no one would go without coal.

Others with the coal company in those years were the late Frank R. Powley and William A. Frey, who is still associated with the coal company, and is one of the best known retail coal men in Kingston.

In the days of the coal strike the company had its offices in a little red building on Thomas street, which was later replaced with the present building.

Washington In Wartime

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON — Capital in wartime:
You can't prove it, but you can bet your last dollar of folding money that it's true. When the government evacuated Manila, millions of dollars in paper money went up in smoke.

The treasury's official announcement was to the effect that all government assets in the Philippine capital had been "removed or destroyed." The story is that paper money, in bales, millions of dollars of it, went up in flames. The enemy can't spend ashes, or even sell them in the Black Market. The treasury, as long as it knows the numbers of the destroyed bills, can't lose a penny.

Look out soon for a national organization of military police, much on the same lines as the "home guards" of World War I.

They will guard all plants producing war material, inside and out. They may have a distinctive uniform similar to the "blues" worn by the Home Guards. They will be under direct command of Maj. Gen. Allen W. Gullison, provost marshal general of the United States Army. They may be recruited from over-age men or those who fail to measure up to full physical requirements in the new draft.

The details aren't complete, but adjusted, should be used. If the property was acquired after February 28, 1913, the cost, except as otherwise provided in section 113 of the Code as amended, should be used.

True Story of Pearl Harbor and What Happened In Washington Permitting It, Will Not Be Revealed Now
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 9.—The true story of what happened at Pearl Harbor and what happened in Washington that permitted the Japanese a concentrated target comprising a substantial part of the American fleet may not be revealed till the war is over.

Decision has been made to suppress the facts, Admiral Kimmel and General Short are about to be retired without court-martial and the administration has succeeded in squelching an inquiry by the House naval affairs committee.

So far as public opinion is concerned, it is to be allowed to continue to suppose that Admiral Kimmel and General Short were the only ones responsible, that the American naval situation since Pearl Harbor has been satisfactory and that all mistakes have now been remedied by changes in personnel or policy.

Many members of Congress and many correspondents here know that this isn't the true picture and that naval officers whose advice and warnings concerning the Far East were given frankly in 1939 and 1940 are still out of favor, having been reprimanded for daring to tell the truth. It is known also that somebody high up in Washington ordered the concentration of the fleet at Pearl Harbor where the Japanese had a splendid target for a surprise attack. It is known also that there has been considerable interference by civilian officials in the affairs and high strategy of the navy.

But the administration has decided that this is not the time to air such a controversy as would arise, of course, if court-martial proceedings were held and the defense counsel had an opportunity to cross-examine witnesses. The reason undoubtedly for suppression is that it would take too much time of high officials for such a court-martial to be held and that, besides, every energy now should be bent toward the future rather than the past.

This is a logical position to assume provided along with it the nation is not permitted to become complacent about the future. In the last fortnight much has been said and written about complacency. Already certain labor unions have violated their pledge to the President and strikes-as-usual have been resumed in certain defense plants. Similarly, the Auto Workers Union has projected a demand for compulsory unionism in all the defense plants of General Motors. Also, the same C. I. O. union is demanding double pay for week-end work and R. J. Thomas, head of the Auto Workers' Union, is serving notice on

One Person Out of Every 87 Works for Uncle Sam

By HERMAN ALLEN
Wide World Features Writer
Washington—Last August Budget Director Harold D. Smith estimated there would be one government employee for every 102 persons in the United States by June 30.

Time and Pearl Harbor have knocked his calculations galley-west.

From behind staggering columns of figures running into the millions pops the fact that there is already one government employee for every 87 persons, more than half of them in the War and Navy departments. Present indications are that by the end of the year there will be one for every 58.

One Out of 62 in Uniform
Neither of these figures includes the Army, Navy or Marine Corps, which now number at least one out of every 62 of our population—and probably more. When President Roosevelt's plans for expansion are unfolded, there will be one man in the armed forces for approximately every 32 persons.

The population on December 1 was approximately 133,600,000. On the same date, according to latest official calculations, there were 1,512,128 persons on Civil Service rolls, classified and unclassified.

That figures out at 1.16 per cent in 1937. Just a shade less than one in 87. On July 1, one in 58 was a government employee; July 1, 1940, only one in 132.

800,000 More
About 800,000 more employees probably will be added to Wash-

War Boards Urged To Salvage Scrap

Metal, Paper, Rubber and Rags Wanted

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 9.—The Secretary of Agriculture has asked the state and county U. S. D. A. War Boards of New York state to cooperate further in the salvage and collection of scrap metal, paper, rubber, burlap, and rags. The collection of scrap iron is already under way in most counties, but the importance of this new drive for salvage materials cannot be over-emphasized, he said.

It has been estimated that at least 15 thousand tons of scrap can be collected from America's farmers to use in steel mills and factories.

The need for scrap iron is pressing," the secretary stated. "This is a new plea for something we might need later. We need it now, and we need it all. We must salvage and collect all scrap iron and other metals so that American industry can maintain the greatest possible produc-

Promenade Held Here By Forty and Eight

The service organization within the American Legion, better known as the "40 and 8" held its monthly promenade last night at the Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly street, with its chef de gare, Daniel W. Benton, as the presiding officer.

The promenade brought together voyagers from the entire county of Ulster, all of Voiture Locale No. 381.

Though the agenda prepared by Correspondent Michael Bruno called for the transaction of a large number of business matters, the question of child welfare in Ulster county, which is of pressing concern to the Voyagers, took up the entire evening, with Herman I. DuBois, chef de gare passe; Gus S. Paulson, correspondent passe; Nelson W. Snyder, chef de gare passe; Voyageur Commander Stanley H. Dempsey, and Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., grand chef passe, taking part in the discussion.

Despite the tenseness of the seriousness of the subject matter probed, there was general agreement and full accord of the program as carried on by the Voiture Locale No. 381. "The influence and effectiveness of every Legion post in the county as it fully recognizes its responsibility. That the Legion should emphasize in every community in the county the importance of child welfare as a vehicle in the development of our citizens of tomorrow. It should be the most efficient agency to develop for the needy recipient, individual initiative as a bulwark against a growing tendency to cause those in need a permanent dependency."

Contributions were voted towards the fund of the Infante Paralysis Committee and to the Red Cross.

Porter Presents Views of France

Story of Occupied and Unoccupied Territory

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 9.—LeRoy P. Porter, who has the two-o'clock main speech on Tuesday, February 10, at Cornell's Farm and Home Week, has been a reporter and foreign correspondent since 1927. He went to Paris for the Associated Press early in 1937 and remained in Europe until his recent arrival in this country to handle the AP cable desk in New York city.

He covered the occupation by the German of Sudeten Deutschland, in former Czechoslovakia, and the territory of Memel in former Lithuania. He has worked in Paris, Berlin, London, Prague, Danzig, in parts of Poland, and other points where AP assignments have sent him.

He is the only newspaper man to remain in Paris at the time of the German occupation; also to leave the occupied territory, and to return "inside" later before his final departure to the United States.

Mr. Porter was born in Chicago, and has worked on the Chicago Herald-Examiner, the Los Angeles Herald, and the Des Moines Register before joining the Associated Press foreign service. He is 34 years old, is married and has one son, Michael, born in Paris. His wife and son evacuated from France on the last trip of the U. S. S. Manhattan from Bordeaux several months after war was declared in the fall of 1939.

His topic at Cornell is "an inside view of occupied and unoccupied France." Because of the interest in the Orient, and the developments on the Russo-German front, the news of France has been crowded out of the headlines, in spite of the fact that events of grave importance have been transpiring there. For this reason, says Professor L. D. Kelsey, in charge of Farm and Home Week, Mr. Porter was selected to present a picture of what is going on there.

Solving the Problem

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 9.—A rural sociologist told New York farmers today the way to assure themselves at least one son will stay "down on the farm" is to have five or more of them. Addressing a panel session at the opening of Cornell University's 35th annual farm and home week, Prof. W. A. Anderson reported odds are one to two or three an only son will become a farmer while in families with five or more boys it is a certainty at least one will. He told a farm audience the son most likely to till the soil is the oldest and the least likely is the "middle" son.

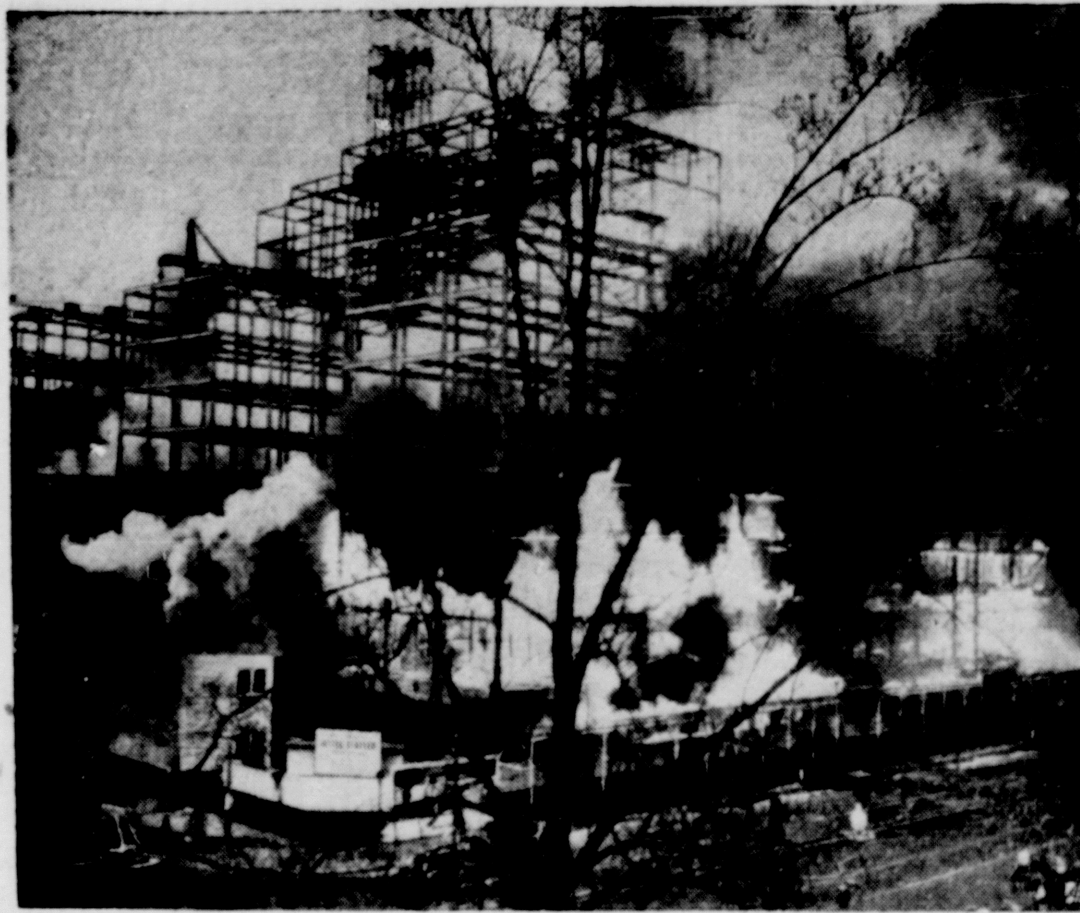

In State Institutions

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 9.—War-curtailment of deportation of New York's alien insane has contributed to an increase to 90,139 resident patients in 26 mental institutions with a 76,859 capacity, the state's mental hygiene department reports. The division now has 101,438 under supervision, including 1,544 in family care and 9,755 on parole. In 1941, it notes in its annual report to the legislature, over-crowding in state hospitals was 16.8 per cent, in state hospitals 14.8 per cent and in Craig Colony for Epileptics 18.8 per cent.

Four hundred firemen were kept busy for an hour and a half before bringing the fire under control. The government acquired the building for office space after it was started as a Stalter Hotel.

He Got Into Wrong Neighborhood, Is Dead

Chicago, Feb. 9.—A self-proclaimed neighborhood tough got into the wrong neighborhood early yesterday and didn't live to recount his latest foray into crime.

The last wild exploits of Joseph Skupien, who police said spent about one third of his life in prisons, were in a tavern and a police station in the sprawling stockyards district. They ended with the 26-year-old ex-convict lying dead on the police station floor, only a few hours after two men had been slain in a tavern holdup.

Shortly after the tavern shooting, Skupien walked into the new city police station early yesterday morning. He waved a pistol and shouted: "I'm going to recue my partner. I'll get those dirty squealers."

Sergeant Joseph Connelly stepped toward him but the enraged Skupien, firing one shot wildly, dashed into the squad room where 10 witnesses to the tavern killings were waiting to be questioned by detectives. Bruno Jachnyak, 23, was being interrogated by police about the slayings. Skupien forced two women in front of him, lined up several other persons, including a reporter, against the wall and backed up against a staircase. He threatened to kill any detectives who came into the room.

Meanwhile, Detective John Leahy was proceeding to effect Skupien's capture. He was in a room near Sgt. Connelly's and learned of Skupien's plot. He dashed up stairs, went through a suite of offices on the second floor, and crept down three steps to a landing directly above Skupien, on the stairs in the squad room.

With his pistol about 10 feet from the ex-convict's head, the 42-year-old officer fired two shots. Skupien wheeled and fired four times, two of the shots slightly wounding two witnesses. Leahy then fired twice more, killing Skupien.

Attempted Suicide in Cell

Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 9.—John Smarzeniec, 49, arrested as a suspect in the slaying of a Hartford, Conn., widow, was reported recovering today in a guarded room at Emergency Hospital after police said he attempted suicide in his cell at police headquarters. Early yesterday, Acting Detective Chief J. J. Fitzgerald related, Smarzeniec slashed his arms and throat with a small penknife which he apparently had concealed in his clothing. Police of Buffalo, Cheektowaga and Connecticut participated in the suspect's capture Saturday night in a Cheektowaga farmhouse where he had been working. Lieut. George Dwornak of the Hartford police said Smarzeniec, charged with first degree murder, is accused of bludgeoning to death Mrs. Mary Solak, 46, whose body was found behind her Hartford home last November 16.

Color—The Master's Touch

A world without color would be a sadder place. Charles F. Sherman wrote a beautiful prose-poem about the splendor of color. He painted a word-picture of the contribution color makes to our lives. We have this little masterpiece in our scrapbook. Perhaps you'd like it for yours:

"I am modern as the minute, yet I am old as life itself. It is my nature to beautify and render attractive. Wherever there is Light, you will find me. I appeal to your vision, I attract your attention, I cause you to pause and admire my work. You will find me on the stately trees, on the highest mountain, and I am found in the flowers and shrubs of the quiet valley. I give life to the rainbow. I translate for the artist his own interpretations, I soothe and pacify or I can incite to wrath and anger. I do not affect all alike, depending on whether I emit, reflect or transmit light. I give civility to Life. I stimulate emotions. I beautify the printed page and rob it of its drabness. I give to the sunset its grandeur. From birth until death I play a major part in your daily life. I am Color...The Master's touch."

She—You promised to send me cables from Russia but all I got was a couple of messages.

He—Sables, bah! I said cables!

My Wish

Give me the common things each day.

Home, children, and a place to pray.

A flag to salute, a book to read.

The Golden Rule, to my creed.

I'll build my world not with dreams.

But with realities which, it seems,

Will fill my life, and then some more.

With things that will yield me riches galore.

Telling the boss what a good worker you are is worth one penny.

Rainy Days. Even in these times of government hand-outs, paternalism, and promises for the future, it is a wise man who thinks of and plans for the days to come.

Your rich Uncle Sam isn't going to support you always. Have you an umbrella for the rainy days ahead?

Chapter Ten
440 Volts

SHARON scarcely had time to thrust the strange warning under her desk blotter before Tom came back to his desk. Fighting for time to regain her composure, she pretended to study a letter lying open on her desk. Her mind, blind to the actual print, her thoughts flew hither and thither. Had Tom planted that warning? Who else would have? And why should he so persistently try to get her out of her job? Was he aware that she suspected him?

Suddenly she was aware that Tom stood just behind her, looking over her shoulder. Glancing up, she saw a smile tripping up the corners of his mouth.

"Look, my sweet, if you'd turn that right side up, maybe you could read it better," he said calmly, taking the letter out of her hand, he righted it, held it in front of her. "See?" and grinned maddeningly. "Day-dreaming and during office hours too! Tsk! Tsk! What would the Colonel say?"

Exasperated, Sharon snatched the letter. "Oh, mind your own business, I was thinking."

Tom shook his head. "That's a dangerous pastime."

"How do you know? Ever try it?" She hid her uneasiness behind a saucy smile.

"Sure. Since daylight this morning I've been thinking about a certain pretty Irish girl I know and—"

"You're paid to think about Sierra Steel."

"I do that, too. Look," he picked up a blueprint from his desk, laid it before her. "Here's my latest brain storm. New wiring for the plant. More machinery. More production. See—two new furnaces where only one grew before. Smart, aren't I?"

"That's what you think. What does Mr. Goodwin say?"

"He says I'm the white hope of Sierra Steel. Aren't you glad you know me?"

"I'll be glad when I know you're back in Pittsburgh," she said archly. Then she hazarded a long shot. "Then, maybe we'll settle down to business instead of school-boy pranks?"

But Tom's expression didn't change by a flicker. If he planned that, he planned certain. He didn't intend she should know it.

"Now was that kind? Here I've brought the only ray of sunshine into this dank hole and that's all the thanks I get?" Slapping his hat on the back of his head, he thrust the blue prints into it, grinned at her. "Since you don't love me any more, I'll go on down to the plant and flirt with the electricians."

Sharon couldn't help answering that infectious grin. "Good. Now I can get some work done."

Tom sobered, said with mock gravity. "Will you miss me?"

"I think I can bear up if I try hard."

"That's my plucky sweetheart," and patted her shoulder. "You can just count the hours until I get back. Then I'll take you to dinner."

"Thanks too much. But I have a date for tonight."

"That guy Goodwin certainly gets around, doesn't he?"

Sharon raised dark arching brows at him. "I'm having dinner with my brother."

"Oh, well, why didn't you say so? I've been wanting to meet that boy. Have him join us at Joe's on the Wharf. You like clam chowder?"

Sharon just looked at him, hands on her hips. "I suppose it does sound fantastic to you, but I do not care to have dinner with you at Joe's or anywhere else. Understand?"

"No sabs," Tom shook his head. "No speakin' 'Merican. See'm byembye." And hands thrust up his sleeves like a Chinese mandarin, he bowed himself out.

"Boo!" Sharon laughed aloud and then, remembering the mysterious note, waited until she heard the elevator door clang shut. Then she fled to Mr. Goodwin's office.

Mysterious Accident

HE GLANCED up, frowning. "I found this note in my typewriter just now." She laid the note on his desk.

For a moment, his face remained inscrutable. Then, he smiled slowly. "Somebody's idea of a practical joke?"

"Probably."

"Any idea who?"

"Tom, of course."

He nodded. "He'd like to see you out of here."

"Has he told you that too?"

"Several times," Mr. Goodwin shrugged contemptuously. "I've an idea he wants to put an associate in your place. I told him I'd think it over."

Sharon held her breath. "Do you, too, think I am too inexperienced for the job?"

"Certainly not. But neither do I think Stafford believes I find you indispensable. That makes your position a little less hazardous."

"But why would he write this anonymously? It's so melodramatic, so silly to think I could be frightened out this way!"

"He underestimates your courage, Sharon. He picked up the note, tore it into fragments. 'Just ignore it. You are in no immediate danger. I assure you of that.'"

"But if he is working right now to put an accomplice right here in the office, isn't it time for you to put a stop—"

Goodwin's face hardened. "I think I'm perfectly capable of acting without your advice. And the less you know about the situation, the less you would have to tell under pressure."

Sharon flared. "You don't trust me!"

"I do. But secrets are dangerous baggage. I thought you understood that."

"Yes," Sharon flushed. "I do. I'm sorry."

"Very good, then. You just concern yourself with doing your part of the job."

Wincing under his rebuke, Sharon escaped to her own office. There she dropped into her chair, buried her face on her arm, and could control the tears that threatened. All the ground she'd gained in the last several weeks, seemed lost now. She'd presumed on Goodwin's kindness and encouragement and forgotten her place so completely that he'd had to put her back into it just as if she were any impudent underling!

Why couldn't she keep her thoughts to herself! She'd deserved that rebuke. But—she straightened, wiped her tears, attacked the mail stacked on her desk—she'd never earn another! She would prove herself indispensable. And, as her fingers flew over the keyboard, she'd think of a new approach to Tom. There must be some way to win his confidence. If he still thought her just a misguided sub-deb, then she could capitalize on that. She'd begin the moment he came back.

But Tom didn't show up all day. At quarter of five she locked the files, cleared her desk, stalled for time in the hope that Tom would appear.

She gave up, finally, pulled on her hat. Maybe he'd call her at home. It wouldn't be like him to have taken her "No" for an answer.

The phone rang just as she was closing the door. It was Macdonald, the plant foreman.

"Mr. Goodwin there?"

"He's gone for the day. Any message?"

"Yes. There's been a bad accident at the plant. The engineer got hurt."

"You mean—Tom? Mr. Stafford?"

"That's right. We're taking him to Good Samaritan Hospital now. Can you get word to Mr. Goodwin?"

"Yes. Yes, I'll call him."

When she hung up, Sharon sat staring at the phone. Tom hurt—dead, maybe! She couldn't believe it! Not Tom Stafford. That big grin, that generous, good-natured laugh that spilled out from some depth within him—silenced! Impossible. And yet—slowly implications unfolded—had it really been an accident or, she shuddered, one of Tom's own detestable plans that backfired!

Shock!

FOR a precious half hour, Sharon tried vainly to locate Harvey Goodwin. Paving, the houseboy, told her he had left word he would not be in for dinner. He was not at his club. He was at none of his favorite cocktail lounges. Even Countess Cayetuna couldn't guess where he might be.

Sharon finally called a taxi, went out to the Good Samaritan herself.

Macdonald, the grizzled Scotsman who ran the plant, met her in the corridor outside Tom's room.

"We don't just know how it happened, Miss Doyle," he said in answer to her instant question. "Stafford had started work on his re-wiring job in the plant. Peterson, the lad we had helping him, came up behind him with a coil of wire. He sees a live wire lying there and yells to Stafford to know what to do with it."

The old Scot stopped, drew on his short briar pipe reflectively a moment.

"Yes. Go on, please," Sharon prompted him.

"Stafford's up on a ladder and don't hear him of course. When them furnaces is roaring, you couldn't hear a bomb burst. So Peterson reaches up to touch Stafford's arm, attract his attention. Stafford's working with his shirt off, you know. Pretty hot next to a furnace that's up to about 3000 degrees."

"But—what happened?" Sharon begged frantically.

"Why, Stafford turns, sees him just in time to jerk out of reach," the garrulous old man went on. "And that's all that saved Peterson's life."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"That wire Stafford was monkeying with carried about 440 volts. Being up on the ladder, Stafford was properly insulated from the ground. The kid was standing square in a puddle of water dripped from a leaky faucet. I been meaning to get fixed."

"Please go on."

"Well, if the kid had touched Stafford he'd made a circuit, see? He'd been dead before he knew what hit him. He shook his head. 'Dumb kid. Stafford had warned him, too.'"

"But what about Mr. Stafford. How did he get hurt?"

"Lost his balance when he jerked out of Peterson's way, grounded himself by grabbing at a pipe. He must of got the full load of them 440 volts."

"Oh—no!"

Believe Tanker Sun. by Same Axis Submarine

Lewes, Del., Feb. 9 (AP)—Survivors of the American tanker China Arrow expressed the belief today that their ship was sunk by the same Axis submarine which destroyed two other American vessels off the Atlantic coast within the preceding 36 hours.

The Socy-Vacuum Oil Co.'s 8,403-ton China Arrow was torpedoed, shelled and set afire 100 miles off the coast Thursday morning. The navy department announced the entire crew of 37 was saved by the Coast Guard after spending 1 hour in three open boats.

The ship was the 21st victim officially announced by United States, British and Canadian sources since January 12 when the present Axis submarine campaign in American waters began. The China Arrow's sister ship, India Arrow, was sunk Wednesday night at the freighter San Gil went down at midnight Tuesday—both invaders not far from the scene of the latest sinking.

In all three attacks, the raider refrained from shelling the sinking ship until the crews had left in lifeboats.

Captain Paul H. Browne, 46, New York city, said two torpedoes from the surfaced submarine struck the China Arrow within a few seconds, hitting her afloat and destroying her radio transmitter.

He and Kenneth W. Maynard, 20, radio operator from Bellingham, Wash., remained aboard 45 minutes attempting to send SOS signals over makeshift transmitter.

Maynard, who was typing when the first torpedo struck, said "Flames shot up all over the middle of the ship."

Capt. Browne said the sea was dead calm when the lifeboats pulled away. The submarine then fired between "15 and 20 shells" from a range of 500 feet.

"They could easily have shelled or machine-gunned us," the captain said, "but they seemed to have a pretty decent skipper."

"I'll give a commander credit for that. They did not touch the men in the lifeboats. They did not talk to us. They just hung around until we were clear and then began shelling."

Four crewmembers were hospitalized here. Among them was Benjamin I. Logan, a seaman from Kansas City, who climbed off the rescue ship and walked several hundred feet before it was discovered his hip was fractured.

The other suffered minor injuries. The list of survivors, announced by the navy department, included Julius L. Schwartz (4 North 10th avenue), Mont Vernon, N. Y.

Nurse Charged With Opium Slaying of Baby

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—"One of the finest nurses that ever walked the floor" of the Bronx Maternity Hospital was charged today with the opium-slaying of a newborn baby whose crying upset her.

That description, augmented by the statement she was "an elegant nurse," was given yesterday by Hospital Superintendent Louis M. Wagner as Mrs. Twiss, 32, herself in tears, was formally accused of homicide in the death of the infant and also accused of feeding the narcotic to mother.

"The babies' constant crying drove me crazy," Miss Twiss was quoted by Assistant District Attorney Martin Kius as saying before being jailed today on bail for hearing Wednesday.

Kraus said the slim, brunette nurse had admitted she was held four days for observation in Bellevue Hospital's psychopathic ward in November, 1930, after she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets.

He added that she had returned to the Bronx institution three months ago after having received leave last summer to have a baby, which did not live.

Physicians had out some hope for the second baby today, although it was a dangerous condition.

Neither Mrs. Castro Valle, 33, mother of the dead child, nor Mrs. Fred Fantagos, 34, mother of the other baby, four-day-old girl—were informed of their infants' fate.

Valle became hysterical when told of the tragedy. It was his and Mrs. Valle's first child in 11 years. Their only other baby, also a girl, was born dead.

AFTER TWO DAYS OF LIFEBOAT RATIONS

Captain Paul H. Browne (second from right) and crew members of the torpedoed tanker China Arrow get their first cooked meal in the Coast Guard station at Lewes, Del., after two days of lifeboat rations. The 8,403-ton tanker was the 19th victim of the Axis submarine drive against Atlantic coast shipping. The entire crew of 37 was landed safely.

Hitler's Wizard on Construction Dead On Eastern Front

Berlin (from German broadcasts), Feb. 9 (AP)—Major General Fritz Todt, who literally paved the way for Adolf Hitler's armies has been killed on the eastern front.

With wide, black bands of mourning, the German press told its readers today that the famed Todt was killed in an air accident yesterday "while carrying through his military tasks in the east."

He was 50 years old.

Todt, who was Reichminister of munitions as well as a construction wizard, has been presented as the master builder, the super-engineer, ever since his completion of the Siegfried line to guard Germany's western front.

A state funeral was ordered in his honor.

Todt was the fourth high-placed Nazi to die in unusual circumstances since the war began.

Less than three months ago, Col. Gen. Ernst Udet, brilliant designer for the German air force, died "while testing a secret weapon."

Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch, who had fallen into ill graces of Hitler as chief of staff of the army, died in action in Poland while on a patrol task ordinarily assigned a subordinate.

Field Marshal Walther von Reichenau, died last month of a "heart attack" while on the defensive with his troops in the Ukraine.

Rationing of New Cars

Tangier Explosion Spotlights Action Of Warring Powers

Madrid, Feb. 9 (AP)—Riotous factions in Tangier were kept throttled by Spanish Morocco authorities under martial law today after the latest in a chain of mysterious, violent events laid to competition of Britain and Germany for Arab support in the Mediterranean war zone.

The outbreak was touched off by the explosion Friday of a time-bomb in a taxi loaded with British diplomatic baggage on a crowded Tangier pier.

The violent blast killed 14 persons; several others among 36 wounded are believed to be dying. The explosion destroyed the taxi, two other automobiles, part of the pier and the customs house.

Thousands of inhabitants of Tangier, in the Spanish-occupied former international zone across the Strait of Gibraltar from Britain's "rock," immediately gave vent to their ire, parading past several foreign missions and government house with banners saying, "Tangier is not at war!"

Both the British and the Germans accused each other of intrigue, inciting the Arabs to violence, in their versions of the rioting.

Axis agents were blamed in London, where reports said the riots were pre-arranged and that some of the demonstrating Arabs arrived on the scene with basketsful of stones to hurl at the British consulate and business houses.

Britons tied the outbreak to Axis efforts to stir unrest among the Moslems all along the Mediterranean shore from the strait to Suez. One British source said the bomb probably was placed in the luggage of British diplomats with the intention that it go off after reaching the legation and that the riots probably were organized to place the onus on the British for the dockside disaster.

The German radio called the riots a mass demonstration of "indignation about the explosion caused by the British" and added: "It must not be presumed that Spain is accepting this latest British affront lying down. The indignation of the people of Tangier is as great as that of Spain, which is both sick and tired of constantly recurring British provocations."

If Spain allowed it, Germany could use her soil as the jumping off place for a direct assault on Gibraltar, Britain's guardian of the western Mediterranean, and across the strait into northwest Africa, threatening South America and the South Atlantic.

Service Flag Dedicated At Fair Street Church

The flag with its seven stars was accepted by Dr. Seeley on behalf of the congregation and dedicated to the young men of the congregation who are in the armed services of the United States.

The colors were advanced by Scouts Robert Tremper and Robert Short accompanied by a color guard of Scouts Chester Dolson, R. Wood, James Matthews and William Ferris Haver. Eagle Scout Robert Short led in the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the service flag was then accepted on behalf of the congregation.

The seven members of the church who are now in service are: Harold V. Clayton, F. L. Coombs, Frank H. Haver, Leonard J. Byer all serving in the army and Roger Boice, Roland T. Fuller and Craig A. Plough who joined the U. S. Naval branch of the service.

Bus and Truck Collide On Grade in Highland

A truck owned by Farber & Nadle of 10-12 Meadow street, Kingston, collided Friday afternoon in Highland, with a Diamond D bus operated by James Tubbs of Highland.

Sergeant Hulse, who with Trooper Benson made an investigation of the crash, said that the truck, driven by Harold Nadle of 63 William street, Newburgh, and carrying a load of meat south, was proceeding down the grade on Main street, Highland, when it skidded on the slippery pavement, crossed from the west to the east side of the road and collided with the bus, which was approaching up the hill.

The side of the bus and the front part of the truck were badly damaged.

The bus was empty at the time and there were no personal injuries reported.

Wartime in Kingston

Wartime went into effect at 2 o'clock this morning, but there was no perceptible change in the usual routine in the daily lives of Kingston's citizens, as householders had taken the precaution before retiring Sunday night to shove the hands of the clocks an hour ahead. The principle difference was observed by those who were accustomed to arise about 7 o'clock and dress in daylight, for this morning when they arose at 7 o'clock by the new time it was to find it necessary to light the house lights in order to proceed with the usual household affairs.

All business houses, banks, trains and bus lines were operating on wartime today as well as the city schools.

Private Deserted by Army Stays at Post 30 Hours

BALTIMORE.—Private Victor Golas, who obeyed orders literally and became a "forgotten soldier" through 30 hours of traffic directing, got a pat on the back and a deluxe ride home.

Maj. A. H. Kratzke, commander of the military police detail with which the Camp Edwards, Mass., selectee was serving, told Private Golas "you are to be congratulated" and "in the army, an order is an order and must be obeyed."

So Golas, who stuck by his post at a railroad crossing through rain and gloom of night long after the last truck of his motor convoy had gone by, received a train ticket to Massachusetts. He also managed to catch up on his sleep—12 hours' worth—at a military police dormitory.

6 Carefree Buffaloes Send Ranchers Up in Arms

FORT COLLINS, COLO.—Know anybody who wants six buffaloes? Colorado and Wyoming ranchers are up in arms because six hairy bison—which are state property and cannot be killed—are wandering about frightening cattle and devouring haystacks.

The beasts amble from haystack to haystack, pushing down any fence between, thereby permitting cattle herds to become mixed.

Gun Fire Ends Airplane Ride

Plane Was Flying Near Restricted Defense Area

Granite City, Ill., Feb. 9 (AP)—A burst of gun fire ended the first airplane ride of Delbert Henson and 15-year-old Beverly Ann Keith, leaving Henson critically wounded.

He was given several blood transfusions.

The plane was flying near the restricted defense area at Alton, Ill., which houses the vast West-Cartridge Company plant.

Soldiers from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and company police patrol the area. Lieut. J. A. Villauer, in charge of the army guards, and company officials declined comment.

Army authorities at Jefferson Barracks said merely that a report of the shooting had been sent to Seventh Corps area headquarters at Omaha and an investigation would be made there.

Delbert Richardson, Granite City flying instructor who was piloting the plane, gave this account of the incident:

Henson and Miss Keith, taking their first plane ride, asked me to fly over the girl's home at Alton. He refused because he feared it was too close to the restricted area.

He then turned the plane at an altitude of 1,100 feet at a point he believed was eight or 10 miles from the restricted zone.

As he banked, the first of seven shots hit the ship. One pierced Henson's hip and stomach. Another penetrated the gasoline tank, forcing Richardson to switch to an emergency supply.

Henson slumped against Miss Keith, groaning, Richardson, fearing another salvo, decided against an emergency landing, despite his passenger's injuries and flew his crippled ship back to the airport.

Seven of the bullets struck the plane's under carriage, wings and fuselage. One of them pierced the pilot's chair, only an inch from Richardson's body.

"It sounded like hail," commented Miss Keith.

HOW TO ADDRESS LETTER TO DIVORCEE CORRECTLY
A reader today asks — and sensibly — what to do about addressing a letter to a divorcee when she calls herself "Mrs. Mary"? "I can't very well presume to correct this woman's own use of her name, can I? (Not even you would do that, would you?)"

To this my answer is, no, of course not — unless I were asked for my opinion by Mrs. Mary. Of course if her name is in the Social Register and she was Mary Jones before her marriage to John Smith, she will be automatically entered as Mrs. Jones Smith. And it would not be impolite to write her name as listed. Otherwise to make any change in the name of another would be extremely ill-bred.

It is true (according to best taste) that a lady should not be known socially as Mrs. Mary. "Mrs." followed by a lady's christian name is a long established tabu of taste. However, the complete levelling of barriers between business, professional and social life has greatly lessened the importance of what is a purely social prejudice.

(For those who are interested in the question of correct names for women, Mrs. Post will be very glad to send a printed slip to anyone sending her a self-addressed, three-cent, stamped envelope.)

When Wife Of "Boss" Is Newcomer
Dear Mrs. Post: We moved here almost a year ago and not one of my husband's employees has called on me. He is superintendent of a big plant here. In a case like mine, where I am the wife of the "boss," but the newcomer here, how is the ice broken?

My husband's position is the top one and the others may have called on me. He is a very nice man and I don't like to go calling on them. First, we are all people of one group despite the difference in business status.

Answer: I can understand how they might hesitate to make the move. At the same time, your own attitude is also understandable. First of all, it seems to me that you might have made individual friends either through church or war work — certainly there will be many opportunities in the latter field from now on.

Whether your husband might tell the men that you are lonely and that it would be friendly on the part of their wives to go to see you — or whether it might be a good idea (for a very bad one) for your husband and you to give a party and to invite the men and their wives is something I can't help you decide without knowing anything about their point of view. In one community it would break the ice; in another it would freeze it thickly.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many subjects to offer to her readers. To-day's slip is "A Dance Can Be Simple." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

A reader today asks — and sensibly — what to do about addressing a letter to a divorcee when she calls herself "Mrs. Mary"? "I can't very well presume to correct this woman's own use of her name, can I? (Not even you would do that, would you?)"

To this my answer is, no, of course not — unless I were asked for my opinion by Mrs. Mary. Of course if her name is in the Social Register and she was Mary Jones before her marriage to John Smith, she will be automatically entered as Mrs. Jones Smith. And it would not be impolite to write her name as listed. Otherwise to make any change in the name of another would be extremely ill-bred.

It is true (according to best taste) that a lady should not be known socially as Mrs. Mary. "Mrs." followed by a lady's christian name is a long established tabu of taste. However, the complete levelling of barriers between business, professional and social life has greatly lessened the importance of what is a purely social prejudice.

(For those who are interested in the question of correct names for women, Mrs. Post will be very glad to send a printed slip to anyone sending her a self-addressed, three-cent, stamped envelope.)

When Wife Of "Boss" Is Newcomer
Dear Mrs. Post: We moved here almost a year ago and not one of my husband's employees has called on me. He is superintendent of a big plant here. In a case like mine, where I am the wife of the "boss," but the newcomer here, how is the ice broken?

My husband's position is the top one and the others may have called on me. He is a very nice man and I don't like to go calling on them. First, we are all people of one group despite the difference in business status.

Answer: I can understand how they might hesitate to make the move. At the same time, your own attitude is also understandable. First of all, it seems to me that you might have made individual friends either through church or war work — certainly there will be many opportunities in the latter field from now on.

Whether your husband might tell the men that you are lonely and that it would be friendly on the part of their wives to go to see you — or whether it might be a good idea (for a very bad one) for your husband and you to give a party and to invite the men and their wives is something I can't help you decide without knowing anything about their point of view. In one community it would break the ice; in another it would freeze it thickly.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many subjects to offer to her readers. To-day's slip is "A Dance Can Be Simple." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y. Leaflets cannot be mailed unless self-addressed envelope bears correct amount of postage. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Chic Panels on Matron Model
Marian Martin
PATTERN 9980
What does your wardrobe need most as a Spring tonic? One good basic, figure-flattering dress you can vary with accessories! Marian Martin designs just the pattern you want, 9980. The simple chic of the narrow bodice panels is a perfect complement to your figure. The gathers and softness to the effect. Why not trim the center bodice seam with glass buttons? ... It accents the pencil-slim vertical line of the frock! If you have a good sense of color, try contrast for the bodice panels and the sash in back... navy blue is smart with navy and white print. To get done quickly, follow the clear directions in the Sew Chart... Three quarter sleeves are optional.

Patterns 9980 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric. Send FIFTY CENTS (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Now, more than ever, it's time to sew! The brilliant new 1942 Marian Martin Pattern Book is ready with a whole Spring Parade of charming new modes, vivacious styles for the pitiful set and slenderizing frocks for matrons. A whole page of defense sewing, too. Order a copy TODAY! PATTERN BOOK TEN CENTS.

Women Keglers Blast Two All-Time City Records at Centrals

Colonial Bowlers Register 2551 High Sunday Afternoon

Standards Collect 2530 on Saturday in Special Red Cross Matches at Central Alleys

In the special Red Cross exhibition at the Central Recreation alleys over the week-end two local women bowling teams shattered the all-time team triple records with scores of 2530 and 2551.

Saturday night the Standards, present leaders of the Colonial Women's League, powdered out 2530 against the Saugerties Bowling Academy team. Sunday afternoon the Colonial City Stars, local match game combine, topped the Standard tally with 2551 against an All-Star team from Poughkeepsie picked by "Chief" Mueller.

In these two special matches for the Red Cross War Relief Fund, Mrs. Evelyn Provenzano and Rita Markle, ace women bowlers of the city, highlighted the games. Mrs. Provenzano rolled 500 and 579 Saturday night while Rita Markle had 202, 217 and 578 Sunday. Provenzano hit 521 and Markle 528 in the other matches.

Ann Hapfel of Poughkeepsie led her team with 528. Marion Phillips had 520 and Eileen Nagenstien bowled 508.

Led by Mrs. Provenzano the Standards reeled off games of 510, 565 and 451 against Saugerties Saturday night at the Central Rec drive. She rolled 579. Rita Markle had 528. Charlotte Lapine followed with 509. Vozdik of the losers paced her club with 508.

Sunday afternoon Rita Markle did the outstanding work with 570, followed by Mrs. Provenzano with 521, Marie Koenig's 497, Evelyn Dolson's 482 and Charlotte Lapine's 473.

During the coming week-end the Colonial City Stars will meet Babe Smith's Newburgh Stars at the Hill City Saturday night and will be back at the Central Recreation alleys the following day to meet the Albany All-Stars, first big time women's bowling squad ever to visit the city.

Central Recs Triumph
In the other halves of the two double-headers over the week-end the Central Rec Stars, composed of some of the best ten pin acers in the city, tripped Nyack Saturday night and completed their performance Sunday afternoon against "Chief" Mueller's Poughkeepsie All-Stars.

Saturday night the Recs blasted out a 2889 series to defeat Nyack, led by Wally Gerken, by 84 pins. It was the first match in a home and home money series also being held for the benefit of the local Red Cross chapter.

Pat Tarsio, young Newburgh kegler, paced Kingston in this match with a 634 triple. His scores were 225, 220 and 189. Randy Kelder followed with 619. Gerken, anchor for Nyack, rolled a 625 triple. Harold Broskie had a 219 single for the winners.

Poughkeepsie, led by "Chief" Mueller, came in Sunday afternoon only to find the Central Stars bowling a 3018 series and winning by 116 pins in the final match of the week-end for the Red Cross fund.

Kingston, paced again by Randy Kelder, blasted out scores of 966, 1048 and 1004, Kelder had a 655 triple on games of 192, 254 and 202. Kelder's second game was highlighted by four straight strikes.

Harold Broskie, lead-off, came in with 604 on 208, 204 and 192 individual games. Johnny Ferraro, who was experiencing some bad luck yesterday, managed to collect a 601 triple. His scores were 193, 186 and 222.

Penalty—Stroke and Distance
When Golfer Julian Kovas was playing Lido's famous seashore course, his ball landed on the ice of a deep channel. Trying to save the valuable bit of rubber as well as a penalty, Kovas shoved out a plank and stood on it to swing. Just as he finished the shot, the ice gave way and Julian had to hang onto the plank until cardies rescued him and carted him off to the warmth of the clubhouse, a mile away. There's no record of what became of the ball.

Monday Matinee
Formula for success: Harry Markson, Mike Jacobs' chief drummer, can give at least six convincing reasons why Tony Zale should make a good fight against Billy Conn. . . . But if you let him keep on, he'll break down and admit that he has ballyhoed himself into betting on a lot of guys named Lee Savold to lick Joe Louis. . . . With the selection of Glenn Pressnell and Elmer Holm, Pressnell now has his first all-alumni football coaching staff also a saving of some $13,000 in salaries. . . . looks as if Larry MacPhail were slipping—he not only failed to sign Whit Wyatt Saturday, but after the confab Wyatt confided: "We talked more about cows than contracts."

The first two weeks of the physical fitness program at dear old Rutgers resulted in eight "major" casualties and countless bruises but no deaths for D. O. R. yet.

Fight rumors recorded—that Mike Jacobs is planning a Joe Louis show at Atlantic City, N. J., as a favor to Abe Greene, the New Jersey commissioner. And that a move is under way for a welter title scrap between Sailor Red Cochrane and Young Kid McCoy, who has just joined the army.

As three-cushion billiards players Ted Lyons and Johnny Rigney seem to be pretty good White Sox pitchers competing in a tourney at Ted's Chicago establishment, both had records of no victories.

Newcomer to Golf Captures Western Open Championship

Herman Barron of White Plains Finishes With 276; Picard Next at Phoenix

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 9 (Wide World)—Les MacMittell, who ran the Wanamaker mile in the "slow" time of 4:11.3 Saturday, spent Friday in bed with a cold. . . . And Cornelius Warmerdam got the loudest cheer of the Millrose meet when it was announced he had swiped out the meet pole vault record which had been set by Sueo Oye of Japan. . . . Headline: "Lombardi traded to Braves for two players" . . . Seems a fair enough trade unless Schnozz has reduced a lot since we last saw him. . . . Sam Byrd, who quit baseball because of advancing age, has just become eligible for P. G. A. membership after serving five years as a golf pro.

Paddy Driscoll of the Chicago Bears and Bill Chandler, Marquette cage coach, who played together on the Great Lakes Naval Station teams during World War I, admit their basketball outfit wasn't quite as good as the current team.

Penalty—Stroke and Distance
When Golfer Julian Kovas was playing Lido's famous seashore course, his ball landed on the ice of a deep channel. Trying to save the valuable bit of rubber as well as a penalty, Kovas shoved out a plank and stood on it to swing. Just as he finished the shot, the ice gave way and Julian had to hang onto the plank until cardies rescued him and carted him off to the warmth of the clubhouse, a mile away. There's no record of what became of the ball.

Formula for success: Harry Markson, Mike Jacobs' chief drummer, can give at least six convincing reasons why Tony Zale should make a good fight against Billy Conn. . . . But if you let him keep on, he'll break down and admit that he has ballyhoed himself into betting on a lot of guys named Lee Savold to lick Joe Louis. . . . With the selection of Glenn Pressnell and Elmer Holm, Pressnell now has his first all-alumni football coaching staff also a saving of some $13,000 in salaries. . . . looks as if Larry MacPhail were slipping—he not only failed to sign Whit Wyatt Saturday, but after the confab Wyatt confided: "We talked more about cows than contracts."

The first two weeks of the physical fitness program at dear old Rutgers resulted in eight "major" casualties and countless bruises but no deaths for D. O. R. yet.

Today's Guest Star
Jim Reed, Topoka (Kans.) Daily Capital: "Why doesn't the Oregon coach who put the basketball officials in the crown's nest back of the backboard plant the whistle-toters in the stands with the spectators? . . . Who ever heard of a spectator missing one from his pew?"

Sportpourri
Fight rumors recorded—that Mike Jacobs is planning a Joe Louis show at Atlantic City, N. J., as a favor to Abe Greene, the New Jersey commissioner. And that a move is under way for a welter title scrap between Sailor Red Cochrane and Young Kid McCoy, who has just joined the army.

As three-cushion billiards players Ted Lyons and Johnny Rigney seem to be pretty good White Sox pitchers competing in a tourney at Ted's Chicago establishment, both had records of no victories.

Grid Dodger Enlists
Brooklyn, Feb. 9 (AP)—George Kruttschnitt, fullback of the 1940 University of Pittsburgh backfield, and understudy last season to Pug Manders of the Brooklyn professional football Dodgers, has enlisted in the army and reports today at Fort Dix, N. J.

63rd Fencing Win
South Orange, N. J., Feb. 9 (AP)—Sethon Hall's fencing triumph over Lafayette College Saturday 22 to 5, was its 63rd consecutive dual meet verdict in five years.

Captain Is Sub
Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 9 (AP)—Harrison Rue, Vanderbilt's basketball captain, spends most of his time on the beach by choice. "I can do the team greater service by sitting on the bench while better players do their stuff on the floor," he explains.

Captain Rue has played in every game so far, but as a sub.

Philadelphia Has Eight-Alarm Fire

Business Building Block Is Badly Damaged

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The city's most destructive fire in 18 years ravaged a large block of business buildings and homes last night and early today, causing damage estimated at $1,000,000.

A woman spectator—one of nearly 50,000 who crowded into the thickly populated area at Columbia and Ridge avenues—said she saw a "teen-age boy plunge from a rooftop into the flames when a wall collapsed, but police reported no one was missing.

A 35-mile-an-hour north wind sent flames hundreds of feet into the air. Eight alarms were sounded. Forty fire companies and 75 pieces of apparatus joined the fight.

Four buildings were destroyed and 13 others were damaged before the swift-spreading flames were brought under control.

Approximately 200 persons—most of them firemen—were treated for injuries at the scene. Eleven persons were taken to hospitals. Most seriously hurt was a fireman who received a broken back and crushed foot.

"It was the worst fire I have ever experienced," said Fire Chief William Cowden. "I don't see how we ever stopped it."

GRANGE NEWS

Highland Grange
Highland, Feb. 9—Lecturer Albert Shaw prepared a program on "Famous Birthdays in February" for the meeting of Highland Grange Tuesday evening. He featured Abraham Lincoln, James Russell Lowell and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Poems of theirs were read and questions asked concerning them.

Mrs. Philip Brevata, Miss Charlotte Shaw and Mrs. Mabel Schneider were apt in their knowledge. "The Dear Old Farm" and "Love's Old Sweet Song" were sung by the members. It was voted that the boys in service be kept on the rolls without the payment of dues until their return. Three members are now in service. The latest recruit being Louis Granger, Jr.

Several new members have cut and drawn wood for the use in the furnace and stoves. This will be cut in right lengths later. Crullers and coffee were served. The next meeting will be on the "Life of Washington" and at that meeting the church will be draped in memory of Thomas M. Mann. On February 12 the softball team will play Rosendale at the local Grange hall.

Many of the strategic materials required by the United States as a part of the great natural resources of Latin America, the Department of Commerce says.

Government Also Has Tax Troubles, Returns Millions

Refunds of Millions in Tax Overpayments to Corporations, Estates and Individuals

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Having tax troubles?

Here's consolation—the government had them, too, during the fiscal year of 1941.

And those particular woes provided cheery news to thousands who dug too deep in paying past levies, and as a result of over-assessments were refunded a total of $54,006,882.

If General MacArthur is not too preoccupied with other matters, his name appeared for a modest sized refund.

In a bulky document turned over today for law-required inspection by Congress, the Internal Revenue Bureau listed the names of those who paid more than their share and the amounts of their refunds.

Deep in the list was the name of Douglas MacArthur, now holding Bataan peninsula against the Japanese invaders of the Philippines. The bureau reported it had sent the general its check for $629.66 as executor for the estate of Mary P. MacArthur, his mother.

The refunds went out to taxpayers in widely-varied walks of life—start of the stage and screen, the socially prominent, statesmen, singers, men prominent in high finance, diplomats, industrialists, sports promoters, publishers, bankers and authors.

The largest individual refund—two checks totaling $253,357—went to George P. Jones, Chicago industrialist, while Arthur Currier, James, New York railroad executive, was second with $185,000, and Aldus C. Higgins, Massachusetts industrialist, third with $148,135.32.

The estate of Ethel duPont Baskin, of New York, was refunded $365,410 in estate taxes; the estate of Herbert N. Straus, New York, $279,478 in estate taxes and the estate of Ormond G. Smith, New York, $280,911 in estate and income taxes. Other estate refunds included the estate of Mary Lily Bingham, New York, $123,740 in income taxes and the estate of George Gerstwin, $3,264 in estate taxes and the estate of Martin Erdman, New York, $138,489 in estate taxes.

The treasury list of refund recipients was studied with the names of prominent New Yorkers who received from $500 to $185,000—the latter amount refunded to Arthur Currier, James, of New York for overpayment of income taxes.

Other income tax refunds to New York individuals included Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., $82,419; Emil Mosbacher, $87,929; Rose Payer, $88,751; Harold S. Vanderbilt, $74,214; Charles C. Baile, $63,571; James H. Cummings, Buffalo, $40,000; Robert L. Ripley, Mamaroneck, $3,972; Beatrice Lillie Peil, $3,733; H. G. Wells, $623; Mary Elizabeth Whitney, $6,628; Lotte Lehman, $3,313; Myron C. Taylor, $1,809, and John Jacob Astor, $5,866.

Sales tax refunds ranging from $33 to $553 were listed for Mrs. Norman E. Mack, Buffalo; and Thomas J. Watson, Cornelius V. Whitney, Southwestern, Beh. Andre Bulova, Floyd L. Carlisle, Benjamin Fairless, Marshall Field, James V. Foran, Harvey D. Gibson, Walter S. Gifford, Bernard F. Gombel, Henry R. Luce, William S. Pailey, David Sarnoff, Laurence S. Rockefeller, Edward R. Statton, Jr., Thomas H. McInerney, Alfred H. Schoellkopf, George F. Rand and Jack L. Percy S. and Ralph I. Straus, all of New York.

Hutton, Kingston, $3,917; Schatz Manufacturing Company, Poughkeepsie, $881; Robert Smith, Poughkeepsie, $4,737; William W. Smith, 2nd, Poughkeepsie, $809; Miller E. County Court to Set Wednesday

J. Wiegand, 22, charged with having escaped from Wallkill prison were brought into court under old indictments. Mr. Haver stated to the court that both men had indictments pending against them and that so long as these indictments were pending the men could not appear before the parole board. Million was indicted for having escaped from Wallkill but he was not apprehended and arraigned until 1939. He was returned to prison where he since been. He was brought down from Great Meadow Prison to answer to the charge now and said he believed he could get counsel and his case was set down for Wednesday for disposition.

Wiegand was indicted in 1938 for escape from Wallkill and arraigned in November of 1938 when a not guilty plea was also entered. Chris J. Flanagan appeared for him and he said he would get in touch with Mr. Flanagan. Until the present charge is disposed of it will be impossible for him to gain a hearing before the parole board. Wiegand, a resident of Syracuse, is now confined to Auburn prison from where he was brought last week by Sheriff Howland C. Anderson and Deputy Clayton Vredenburg.

Court recessed until Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Many bidders withdrew from the stock market today, as the Far Pacific war news took on a somewhat darker hue, and leading issues backed down fractions to more than a point.

Trends were shaky at the start and prices slipped further near mid-day. Selling never was of an urgent character, however, and the ticker tape frequently came to a standstill near the final hour. Transfers were at the rate of about 450,000 shares.

The crisis at Singapore, plus doubts of MacArthur's ability to withstand the Japanese invasion avalanche in the Philippines for any great length of time, received the principal blame for the lackadaisical market performance. Business news, including earnings statements, propped a few issues but provided little inspiration elsewhere.

Backward movers most of the day in the share division were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Standard Oil (N. J.), U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Western Union, Allied Chemical, Anaconda and American Can.

World Again Is Having Driven Home Great Importance of Big Air Supremacy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World Staff Analyst)

The speed with which the Japanese have gained a foothold in force on Singapore Island—supreme symbol of military might in the Orient—certainly offers little encouragement to the defense, and the best one can say at the moment is that the battle for this immensely important base isn't over.

The landing was made on the northwest coast of the island under cover of darkness, and today the invaders were driving their way eastward in heavy fighting. This gave further evidence of the strength of the attack, for a message from Sydney disclosed that the zone where the Japanese came ashore was defended by Australians who are among the greatest fighters of the imperial forces.

Against the world is having driven home the vast importance of airpower, for a very considerable degree of the Japanese success is due to supremacy in this branch. Whether the British are able to hold Singapore depends largely on whether they receive heavy reinforcements of fighting planes with which to stand off the Japanese machines which are described as swarming the sky.

The Japanese assault was preceded by a violent bombardment from heavy artillery on the neighboring peninsula, accompanied by a terrific assault by air. This continued for 24 hours, at the end of which time the Japanese made what appears to have been a neat maneuver.

Previously the Japanese had occupied Pulau Ubin, an island at the entrance to Johore Strait off the northeast coast of Singapore. This was meant to give the impression to the British that the Japanese attack would be made in that zone. Actually, however, the Japanese struck at the other side of Singapore, on the northwest coast, and a dispatch from the scene indicates that this was in the nature of a flanking movement against the defending troops which were holding along the northern shore of the island along the strait.

Too Early To Predict
It is too early to offer predictions as to the outcome of this historic battle. It undoubtedly depends on what reinforcements especially in the air, the allies can get to Singapore quickly.

If Singapore falls it will, of course, be a disaster for the allies. Not only will it bring the Japanese right up against Sumatra, but it will open up Malacca Strait to Japanese ships for an assault against Rangoon and Burma, gateways to the Burma Road which is China's lifeline.

The loss of Singapore would not be a decisive victory in the sense that it would mean the Japanese had won the battle of the Pacific. However, there is no doubt that it would raise a mighty barrier which the allies would have to smash before they could defeat the Japanese.

By the way, you probably have noted that a steady stream of graphic, informative dispatches is coming out of Singapore from C. Yates MacDaniel, Associated Press correspondent on the beleaguered island. I dined with MacDaniel in New York not long ago—a grand young fellow who now is risking his life to get the news.

I mention this because it illustrates the devotion of the great army of men and women who daily are reporting under gunfire in order that the folk back home in America may have the facts. And after all, the reporter finds it just as unpleasant and dangerous to be shot at as does the soldier. So next time you read MacDaniel's by-line in your paper as you drink your coffee, just wish him—and all his grand colleagues over there—a lot of luck.

Coincidentally with the Singapore show the Japanese are intensifying their assault against General MacArthur on the Bataan peninsula. If the Japanese can get both these bases into their hands, they will be well set for their big attack against the Dutch East Indies.

Chichester Man Held for Assault

from his wife and living with his mother in Chichester, it is charged came to the home where his wife and their six children are living, in Chichester, early Sunday morning, brandished a butcher knife and threatened his wife.

According to the story told Trooper Dunn, Mrs. Grant and her sister, Mrs. Ella Grant, of Mt. Tremper, who was visiting her at Chichester, were talking in the bedroom upstairs, when about 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning Grant made his way into the house and came upstairs, entering the room where the women were sitting. They said that Grant had a knife and said "I'm going to kill you."

The sister, Mrs. Ella Grant, opened the window and got out on the porch roof, jumping from there to the ground. She stopped a passing car and made her way to the State Police station.

Troopers Dunn and Maish went to the Grant home, but found that Grant had left, having made his way across the fields to his mother's house, when one of the children had cried out that the Troopers were coming. Sunday evening Grant came to the police station and gave himself up.

Grant was arrested some time ago on an assault charge, following an attack on a man, with an iron pipe, but later was freed when the grand jury failed to bring an indictment.

JAP INVASION SPREAD OVER VAST AREA

Stretching roughly in an arc of some 5,000 miles from the Rangoon area of Burma to islands east of New Guinea, the paths of numerous multiple-headed Japanese invasion thrusts are indicated on this map as the war of the far western Pacific swings into its third month—with Japan still on the offensive on all of the many battle-fronts on land and sea.
